2. Investment intermediary BenchMark Finance AD, registered in the Commercial Register with UIC 131225156, with registered office and address: Sofia, 19 Viskyar Planina Str., Holding a license to operate as an investment intermediary N° RG-03-0212/09.05.2006, issued by the Financial Supervision Commission, represented jointly by the executive directors Petar Nikolaev Krastev and Denitza Bojdarova Panayotova-Hristova, hereinafter referred to as "BenchMark Finance", this agreement was concluded, referred to as below the "Agreement". For the purposes of the agreement and compliance with the requirements of the Markets in Financial Instruments Act (MFIA), this agreement shall be signed by in his/her capacity of a person under Art. 77, para. 3 of MFIA

I. Subject of the agreement

1.1. The investment intermediary performs the services and activities on behalf of the client under standard conditions on the basis of a written agreement, the current general conditions, the policy for execution of client orders and all other documents governing trade and relations between the client and BenchMark Finance and contain the basic rights and obligations of the investment intermediary and the client. The documents under sentence one are prepared in accordance with Markets in Financial Instruments Act (MFIA), Delegated Regulation (EU) 2017/565 and Ordinance N° 38 on the requirements for investment intermediaries and contain all the information that the investment intermediary must provide to its clients in accordance with the requirements of the law. The information is provided through the website of the investment intermediary, where clients/potential clients have the opportunity to get acquainted with the current documents applicable in the relations with clients and regulating the trading conditions.

Under the terms of this agreement, BenchMark Finance provides the client with the opportunity to trade with the following financial instruments: CFDs - CFDs on shares, CFDs on commodities, CFDs on currencies, CFDs on indices, CFDs on metals, CFDs on cryptocurrencies and others OTC derivative financial instruments. A description of the financial instruments and products offered by BenchMark Finance and the risks associated with them is presented on the website of BenchMark Finance - www.benchmark.bg. BenchMark Finance may at any time offer other instruments for which the client will be notified in advance by email, publication on the website and/or by phone.

1.2. To fulfill the subject of the contract, BenchMark Finance opens an account/s of the client in a currency of the client's choice.

1.3. By signing the contract, the client agrees that the positive or negative exchange rate and price differences realized as a result of the concluded transactions with financial instruments will be reflected in the client's account, recalculated in the currency in which the client's account with BenchMark Finance is opened. This also includes all applicable fees, commissions and other costs/expenses for the client.

1.4. The services under this contract are provided only at the initiative of the client, the transactions are concluded entirely at the discretion and by order of the client. The client bears all risks of trading in financial instruments and all transaction orders are executed entirely at his/her expense and at his/her own risk. BenchMark Finance does not provide investment advice or recommendations, or any advice/consultations in connection with the client's transactions under this agreement.

1.5. Transactions are made cashless, without actual delivery/physical of purchased or sold assets, only through the client's accounts in BenchMark Finance. BenchMark Finance is a counterparty and the only place for execution of the client's orders, as all orders are executed outside the trading venue, only on the OTC market. The transaction is concluded directly between the client and BenchMark Finance on an individual basis and the financial instruments are issued by BenchMark Finance.

1.6. Transactions under this agreement are carried out on the basis of orders submitted by the client where the client receives from BenchMark Finance a quote for the respective financial instrument using the client electronic trading platform MetaTrader 4 and MetaTrader 5 or by telephone, subject to the general requirements for communication between BenchMark Finance and the client.

Depending on the trading platform used by the client, some of the financial instruments may not be available for trading.

1.7. The working hours for concluding transactions with all trading instruments are published on the BenchMark Finance website.

1.8. The contract becomes valid (enters into force) after crediting the client's account with BenchMark Finance with the respective amount, which covers the requirements for trading.

1.9. The specific conditions under which trading is carried out and transactions are concluded, as well as the financial instruments available in the respective platform for trading, are indicated on the website of BenchMark Finance.

1.10 The Client understands and agrees that in real time trading it is possible, in view of the technological time for transmission of the order, the quotations of financial instruments to change in the period between the submissions of the order by the client, receipt of the order on BenchMark Finance's servers and its implementation by BenchMark Finance. BenchMark Finance executes the client's order at the quotation available at the time of its execution. BenchMark Finance is not responsible for the change in the quotations in the period from the submission of the client's order or the quotation visible to the client, until its execution.

1.11. The Client understands and agrees that it is possible to allow a delay in the quotations, which would lead to errors in the prices of financial instruments and/or to make errors in the prices of financial instruments (regardless of the reasons) quoted by BenchMark Finance. In such cases, BenchMark Finance and the client follow the rules and procedures as provided in the General Terms applicable to agreements with clients, and BenchMark Finance has the right to take one of the following actions regarding the client's positions affected by wrong quotations:

1.11.1. To correct the quotations or parameters of the affected positions of the client, by leaving active the concluded transactions and the open positions of the client at the new quotations. In this case, BenchMark Finance determines the correct quotations at its discretion, providing on request data on prices collected from independent sources.

1.11.2. To declare and determine all affected positions as invalid and to cancel the transactions concluded at the wrong quotations.

1.12. The usage by clients of trading methods aimed at taking advantage of errors and/or delays in quotations, or taking advantage of other technical weaknesses in trading platforms, including when the client does so, using an automated expert system, script, API or other software developed by a third party are unacceptable for BenchMark Finance and will be considered as unscrupulous behaviour from clients's side. In the event that BenchMark Finance, in its sole discretion, defines a client's trading strategy as an attempt to take advantage of errors and/or delays in quotations and/or technical weaknesses in trading platforms, BenchMark Finance has the right to take one or more of the following measures:

1.12.1. To adjust the quotations and price spreads to which the client has access;

1.12.2. To restrict the client's access to quotes in real time and the possibility to open positions, including to start providing quotes for a transaction only after requesting them by phone;

1.12.3. To immediately cancel the trades and all open positions of the client, concluded through the mentioned trading methods as well to offset/deduct from the client's account all previous profits, which have been gained as a result of such trading method.

1.12.4. To immediately terminate the client's access to the electronic trading platforms;

1.12.5. To terminate unilaterally, immediately and without notice the contract with the client, by notifying him/her.

1.13. The Client understands and agrees that the Client's trading account reflects the realized positive or negative exchange rate differences, as well as the differences resulting from the accrual of interest on overnight financing (swap) on the open positions as of 23:59:59 (server time), which are carried forward for the next business day, as well as all expenses, payments and adjustments in case of corporate events, dividends and others. By concluding the contract, the client gives in advance his/her unconditional and irrevocable consent for all operations that BenchMark Finance performs ex officio on client's account.

1.14. All orders or instructions of the client, submitted through the trading platforms or by e-mail (if any) will be considered received and will be a valid order or instruction and/or open position and binding transaction between BenchMark Finance and the client, only when those orders/instructions are executed by BenchMark Finance. BenchMark Finance confirms this to the client by confirming the open position/transaction and/or the generated report/reference for the assets on the client's trading account. The mere submission of an order or instruction by the client does not create an open position, binding transaction or commitment between BenchMark Finance and the client.

1.15. The Client acknowledges, accepts and understands that trading in contracts for differences and other derivative financial instruments on a margin basis (with a guarantee amount) is highly speculative, involves a high degree of risk and is suitable only for individuals who can bear the risk of loss, including loss exceeding the amount of their margin deposits. The client agrees and declares that he/she has the financial ability to bear the risk of speculative trading with financial instruments.

1.15.1. When providing investment services under this contract, BenchMark Finance requires from the client, respectively from the potential client, information about his/her knowledge and experience in connection with the investment services related to the specific type of product or service offered or sought, so that BenchMark Finance can assess whether the investment service or product is suitable for the client. When, on the basis of the received information, BenchMark Finance considers that the product or service is not suitable, it warns the client and/or the potential client in writing. The warning is made in a standardized format upon registration of the client.

If, despite the warning received, the client wishes to use the investment service or product, BenchMark Finance hereby warns the client that the decision is entirely his/hers and the client bears the risk of using a service that is deemed inappropriate for him/her, which may incur real financial losses and informs him/her that it is good to gain knowledge and experience by participating in training courses or by initially opening a demo account.

1.15.2. In the case where the client, respectively the potential client, does not provide the necessary information under item 1.15.1 or provides insufficient information about his/her knowledge and experience, BenchMark Finance will not be able to assess whether the specific investment service or product is suitable for him/her. The warning is made in a standardized format upon registration of the client.

The client is notified by BenchMark Finance and declares that he/she is aware that in case of failure to provide information about his/her knowledge and experience in the field of investment services or in case of insufficient information, BenchMark Finance will not be able to assess whether the offered investment service is appropriate (suitable) for him and agrees with the consequences thereof.

1.16. The Client acknowledges, accepts and understands that trading in contracts for differences and other derivative financial instruments on a margin basis on the OTC market is carried out in accordance with market rules, conditions and principles that under certain market conditions, emergency or other undesirable situation, provide broad and extraordinary powers (authority) for the issuer of the financial instruments.

1.17. The Client understands and agrees that BenchMark Finance has the right to professionally determine whether there are unforeseen extraordinary market circumstances (extraordinary market situation) or force majeure events or circumstances, or there are circumstances in which transactions cannot be concluded on the respective markets. In such cases, BenchMark Finance may undertake the provisions of the BenchMark Finance General Terms and Conditions, the Client Order Execution Policy, as well as increase its margin requirements, suspend the offering of quotations for certain financial instruments or even to suspend the offering of certain trading instruments, to close some or all of the margin positions opened by the client and/or to suspend or amend the application of any or all of the terms of the contract with the client.

1.18. When a market, liquidity provider, stock exchange, intermediary, financial institution or third party used by BenchMark Finance for the purposes of the provided investment services takes action against BenchMark Finance, BenchMark Finance has the right at its discretion to take appropriate action against the affected transactions, investment services and opened counter-positions between BenchMark Finance and the client, including by canceling or raising the requirements for a guarantee deposit, or changing their parameters (volume, price/quotation, validity period, etc.). BenchMark Finance is not liable for any losses or missed benefits (gains) incurred by the Client as a result of such actions.

1.19. The client is responsible and bound by all actions performed on his/her behalf on the basis of valid electronic identification, when the client has used his/her password to conclude transactions by phone or has gained access to the trading platform and/or to the personally accessible section for each client - BenchMark Clients on the website of the investment intermediary. The data filled in by the client and the performed actions or operations in the trading platform and/or in the BenchMark Clients section of the investment intermediary's website are considered valid and binding statements of the client. The risk that they are not made by the client, that they do not correspond to his/her actual will, that they are not complete, accurate and/or true, is borne entirely by the client. BenchMark Finance is not liable for damages or missed benefits (gains) resulting from the above stated circumstances.

1.20. The parties agree that the client has breached its obligations under this contract with gross negligence when:

1.20.1. Has kept his/her phone transaction password or login details in the MetaTrader 4 or MetaTrader 5 platform, and/or in the BenchMark Clients section, stored/registered on the same document;

1.20.2. Has disclosed his/her phone transaction password or login details in the MetaTrader 4 or MetaTrader 5 platform, and/or in the BenchMark Clients section, to a third party, including a member of his/her family or relative;

1.20.3. Has provided his/her phone transaction password or login details in the MetaTrader 4 or MetaTrader 5 platform, and/or in the BenchMark Clients section, for use by a third party or has agreed or allowed this data to be used by a third party.

The Client shall bear all losses, regardless of their amount, related to unauthorized transactions, if they are caused by fraud or due to the non-fulfillment with gross negligence of one or more of the Client's obligations under section 1.20. In this case the client is obliged to indemnify BenchMark Finance under Art. 63 and Art. 64 of the General Terms and Conditions.

1.21. When concluding a contract with an electronic application submitted by a client through the use of electronic means and methods of communication, the provision of all necessary information by the client in accordance with applicable legal requirements in connection with its identification, comprehensive inspection, assessment of suitability, categorization of the client and etc., shall be carried out through electronic statements between the parties, an electronic document or an electronic signature, including through a simple electronic signature within the meaning of Art. 13, para. 1 of the Electronic Document and Electronic Certification Services Act.

The parties to this contract explicitly agree that the use of a simple electronic signature within the meaning of Art. 3, item 10 of Regulation (EU) № 910/2014 or an advanced electronic signature within the meaning of Art. 3, item 11 of Regulation (EU) № 910/2014, will (be legally binding) have legal force and will be equivalent to a handwritten signature in the relations between them.

II. Guarantee deposit

2.1. When an order to conclude a deal for Contracts For Differences (CFD) and other OTC derivatives on a margin basis, clients must provide a security/guarantee deposit. The guarantee deposit serves to cover the risk of losses in case of an adverse movement in the price of traded financial instruments. The minimum guarantee deposit for each position is calculated individually depending on the type of financial instrument and / or the client (non-professional, professional or eligible counterparty).

2.2. The guarantee deposit is blocked immediately as a prerequisite for opening a position in Contracts For Differences (CFDs) or other derivative instruments by the client and the client cannot use the blocked amount for other purposes until the closure of the open position it guarantees. BenchMark Finance may refuse to execute submitted by the client order to open a position in Contracts For Differences (CFDs) or other derivative instruments, if the funds on the client's trading account are insufficient to cover the minimum required margin for the respective position.

2.3. The amount of the guarantee deposit (margin requirement for opening positions in various financial instruments) is expressed as a percentage of the value of the open position. Margin requirements for different types of instruments are indicated on the BenchMark Finance website according to the type of client (non-professional, professional or acceptable counterparty). In determining the amount of the guarantee deposit requirements, BenchMark Finance complies with the requirements set by the Financial Supervision Commission (FSC), the European Securities and Markets Authority (ESMA) and/or by the supervisory authorities of other Member States of the European Union, if such requirements exist (if the case). In case of change of the regulatory requirements and/or setting of new requirements by FSC, ESMA and/or supervisory bodies of other Member States of the European Union, BenchMark Finance changes the amount of the minimum required guarantee deposit/margin, both for certain financial instruments and for individual clients.

2.4. The guarantee deposit covers the risk of possible losses from exchange rate and price differences realized as a result of transactions concluded at the client's expense, accrued interest rate swap costs for transferring the client's positions for the next business day, deducted dividend payments or other expenses. The guarantee deposit covers these risks, including the value of cash and financial instruments on the client's accounts with BenchMark Finance.

The client may enter into transactions provided that the balances on the account with BenchMark Finance are sufficient to maintain already opened positions (if any) and to open new positions that the client wishes to open.

2.5. BenchMark Finance has the right to close one or all open positions of the client without notice, at its discretion in the hypotheses described in the General Terms and Conditions of BenchMark Finance and the Policy for execution of client orders, as well as if there is a danger of realization or has already been realized a negative balance on one or more client's accounts. In the cases when the client has more than one account opened with BenchMark Finance and has realized a negative balance on one of them, BenchMark Finance has the right to use at its discretion all money and/or financial instruments available on the other accounts of the client, respectively to carry out any management and/or disposal actions in order to limit or cover the amount of losses incurred by the client and the obligations of the client, due to those losses, towards BenchMark Finance.

2.6. Upon reduction of the available amount in the trading account to the value indicated on the BenchMark Finance website by the required margin for maintaining open positions, the client pays in (deposit) the amount to cover his/her shortage of funds as soon as possible. The client has an obligation to monitor his/her positions in the financial instrument and the margin required for their retention and to take action to deposit/pay in funds when necessary.

2.7. Upon reduction of the available amount in the trading account, the client is notified by receiving a margin call for additional deposit so that BenchMark Finance be able to maintain (keep) the open positions to protect the client from losses or risk of losses in connection with already open positions/concluded transactions or future open positions/transactions of the client. Margin call can be placed/received by the client by phone (via a recordable telephone line), by e-mail or in the electronic trading platform, including through an automatically generated message.

In case of a margin call sent to the client, the client is obliged to immediately pay to BenchMark Finance the respective requested amount of money in order to meet the margin requirement specified in the terms of trading with the various financial instruments on the investment intermediary's website. If the client does not provide the required margin deposit (guarantee amount) due in connection with the maintenance of open position (s) or transaction (s), BenchMark Finance may close any of its open positions / transactions, in part or in full, without prior notice to the client, under the conditions, price (quotation), timing (moment), at the time such action being undertaken at the discretion of BenchMark Finance.

2.8. General margin requirements of BenchMark Finance for opening positions in various financial instruments are specified on the intermediary's website. BenchMark Finance reserves the right to set specific margin requirements and obligations for specific financial instruments and transactions.

2.9. In cases where the client and BenchMark Finance have a dispute in relation to open or closed margin positions (transaction) or alleged open margin positions (transaction) or margin deals related instructions, BenchMark Finance shall have the right, at its sole discretion and without prior notice, to close ex officio that position of the client (margin transaction) or an alleged position/margin transaction if it reasonably (with reason) considers such action as desirable in order to limit the maximum amount subject to the dispute with the client.

BenchMark Finance is not responsible for future changes in the quotations and has no obligation to the client in connection with subsequent fluctuations in the quotation of the financial instrument on the closed disputable client's position/margin transaction.

If BenchMark Finance closes a client's margin transaction under this clause (in the event of a dispute), BenchMark Finance may, at its discretion, take or may take no actions to limit the client's ability to open new margin positions, including in the same financial instrument.

2.10. In all cases of an official closing of the positions, the client unconditionally agrees with the price levels at which BenchMark Finance has closed the client's positions. Regardless of the actions taken by BenchMark Finance to close the positions, if as a result the balance on the client's account is negative (loss is realized), the client should pay to BenchMark Finance an amount equal to the realized negative cash balance, and such case the (point) (item) art. 4.4, art. 4.5 and art. 4.6. of this contract shall apply:

III. Deposits and withdrawals

3.1. Upon submission of a request for withdrawal by the client, the amount is blocked and cannot be used for trading purposes, mentioned in this contract.

When withdrawing an amount from the client, the requirements for a guarantee deposit described in this contract must not be violated.

3.2. The conditions for withdrawals and deposits on the client's account are governed (regulated) by the general terms and conditions, the Tariff and are shown on the website of BenchMark Finance. The client may withdraw and deposit funds in accordance with the procedures described on the intermediary's website. In cases where a prior request is required, the request for cash withdrawal can be made at the intermediary's office, through BenchMark Clients or by email sent to the email address specified on the investment intermediary's website.

3.3. The client's trading account is credited with the respective sum provided that all requirements of the Anti-Money Laundering Measures Act are met; the origin of the client's funds is clarified and including after, at the request of BenchMark Finance, the client has provided the necessary additional information, data and documents, and/or declaration for origin of the funds under art. 66 of the Anti-Money Laundering Measures Act,.

3.4. BenchMark Finance stores the funds of its clients in a common bank account opened on the name of a person (under Art. 93 of Markets in Financial Instruments Act (MFIA)). By signing this contract, the client agrees that the person under art. 93 of MFIA, under whose name clients' money will be stored, can be a person linked to BenchMark Finance.

IV. Commissions, fees and other expenses

4.1. The Client is obliged to pay to BenchMark Finance the commissions and fees, according to the conditions published on the website of BenchMark Finance and according to the following in the documents:

4.1.1. Tariff of the investment intermediary with a description of the types of expenses and fees for the client and their amount (the Tariff);

4.1.2. Information about the costs and related fees for the clients of BenchMark Finance AD on the grounds and in accordance with the provisions of art. 50, in connection with art. 46 and with Annex II of Delegated Regulation (EU) 2017/565;

4.1.3. The Key information documents (KID) for the products offered and financial instruments.

4.2. Any other payments not explicitly specified in the BenchMark Finance Tariff and the documents under art. 4.1, but related to the transactions covered by this agreement, are at the expense of the client including bank fees and commissions due in connection with the execution of remittances (deposits and withdrawals) on orders or instructions given by the client.

4.3. BenchMark Finance notifies the client of any change in the Tariff and other documents under item 4.1 through a publication on its website.

4.4. By concluding this contract, the client agrees that all amounts due by him/her under this contract to BenchMark Finance will be deducted from the funds available on the client's accounts with BenchMark Finance.

4.5. The Client undertakes to pay to BenchMark Finance all liabilities, fees, interest, losses, expenses and others (current and future, including contingencies), incurred by BenchMark Finance as a result of negative exchange rate or price differences or market gap, accrued swap for transfer of the client's positions for the next business day, withheld dividend payments and others, that have caused a negative cash balance (loss) to be realized on the client's account, together with the interest accrued for the period until their full payment. The above sentence does not apply to non-professional clients trading in contracts for differences, against which by Decision of FSC № 918-IP of 30.07.2019 the investment intermediary is obliged to provide protection in case of negative balance.

4.6. The Client undertakes to indemnify BenchMark Finance for all losses, fees, costs, expenses and liabilities (current and future, including contingencies) incurred by BenchMark Finance as a result of or in connection with a breach by the client of this agreement and/or the general terms and conditions applicable to the contracts with clients of BenchMark Finance, the Policy for execution of client orders of BenchMark Finance and/or other documents applicable in the relations with the client and/or due to violations of the regulatory requirements and the applicable legislation.

V. Communication between the parties

5.1. Under this agreement, BenchMark Finance provides the client with a password to access the respective electronic trading platform, and the client with a password for concluding transactions via telephone. The Client is obliged to change the password provided for the electronic trading platform at (upon) his/her first login and to use the passwords for the electronic trading platform or for telephone transactions every time he/she communicates with BenchMark Finance.

5.2. BenchMark Finance will accept orders for concluding transactions or orders placed through a trading platform or by telephone in compliance with the rules for submitting orders by telephone, described on the website of BenchMark Finance and an integral part of this agreement.

5.3. Upon conclusion of this agreement, the Client gives his/her explicit consent that the telephone conversations he/she makes with BenchMark Finance will be recorded and listened to if necessary, and to be used or copies of them to be used as evidence to any person, respectively a state supervisory or judicial authority, before which BenchMark Finance considers it desirable or necessary to disclose this information in a dispute between BenchMark Finance and the client.

5.4. If the client, for whatever reason, is unable to establish communication with BenchMark Finance, the BenchMark Finance shall not be liable for any damages, losses or missed benefits (gains) incurred due to the inability to be given or fulfilled client's orders.

5.5. The Client is aware, accepts and agrees that in the electronic trading platform used by him/her, he/she has an access to modules through which he/she will receive all information about transactions, reports on available assets, accrued costs, interest, commissions, fees and all due according to the current legislation information in connection with the transactions concluded by him/her, including confirmations of transactions, occurrence of a margin call on his/her trading accounts, reports and reference (statements) on his/her assets.

5.6. Any notification, notice or other message (communication) that must be provided by BenchMark Finance to the client in accordance with regulatory requirements will be made, at BenchMark Finance's choice, via e-mail to the email address specified by the client, by message in the appropriate trading platform or on the BenchMark Finance website, including in the part with personal access for BenchMark Clients only.

The message to the client is considered as received by him/her when it is published by BenchMark Finance in the trading platform used by the client or on the BenchMark Finance website.

The message sent via e-mail is considered as received when it is sent by BenchMark Finance to the e-mail contact address provided by the client. BenchMark Finance is not responsible for delays, changes or other modifications that the message may undergo after it was sent by BenchMark Finance.

5.7. The Client undertakes to check the content of any message or document, including documents sent electronically by BenchMark Finance. In the absence of obvious errors, the sent messages or documents (reports, inquiries, etc.) are considered as final, unless the client notifies BenchMark Finance in writing of the opposite within 3 days after receipt of the message or document.

5.8. In connection with the communication between the client and BenchMark Finance, as well as regarding all messages (communications), notifications for changes in policies, rules, general conditions and other documents, the provisions of the General Terms and Conditions applicable to contracts with BenchMark Finance clients shall apply.

VI. Termination

6.1. This agreement may be terminated by mutual consent of the parties and on the grounds, methods, conditions and procedures set forth in the General Terms and Conditions applicable to the agreements with clients of BenchMark Finance.

6.2. When a client submits a unilateral notice for termination of his/her contract, at the moment of submitting the written notification the client must not have open positions and/or outstanding liabilities to BenchMark Finance.

6.3. When sending a unilateral written notice of termination, as well as signing a bilateral agreement to terminate the contract, the client is obliged to close all its open positions in contracts for differences or in other derivative instruments before the date of termination, and to indicate at least 3 (three) working days before the termination of the contractual legal relationship, where his/her assets (funds) available with the investment intermediary (if any) be transferred to.

BenchMark Finance pays the client's funds on the basis of the instructions submitted by the client in one of the following ways: in cash at the desk in BenchMark Finance in compliance with the requirements of the Law on Restriction of Cash Payments or to a bank account specified by the client where he/she is the account beneficiary.

In case the client does not withdraw his funds in cash and does not give an order for outgoing transfer to his/her bank account, BenchMark Finance at its discretion transfers the funds to the client's bank account, from which and to which during the commercial relations with the client funds have been received or outgoing transfers have been ordered by the client or funds will be stored in BenchMark Finance on a special account for clients with terminated contracts, and the client can claim them and request their payment at any time within the 5-year limitation period.

6.4. In case where the client does not close its open positions in the trading platforms on international markets by the expiration of the term indicated in the termination notice, the client agrees that they will be officially closed at the discretion of BenchMark Finance at the time of contract termination. In the case of official closure of positions opened in the trading platforms on international markets, the client unconditionally agrees with the price levels at which BenchMark Finance has closed those positions. The funds received as result of the official closure of the positions shall be paid to the client in compliance with the procedure under item 6.3.

Irrespective of the actions taken by BenchMark Finance to close the positions, if as a result of the closure, the balance on the client's account is negative (loss is realized), the client is obliged to pay BenchMark Finance an amount equal to the realized negative cash balance.

6.5. BenchMark Finance executes the client's orders to transfer his/her assets – his/her funds to accounts specified by the client only after repayment of all obligations of the client to BenchMark Finance. The client is obliged to pay to the investment intermediary all fees, commissions, expenses, direct losses or other liabilities accrued on his/her account until the date of termination of the contract, as well as a result or in connection with the closure of his positions (if closure was necessary) and transfer of its assets (cash).

BenchMark Finance has the right to withhold all amounts due from the client before the transfer of his/her assets – his/her funds, and in case of non-payment of its financial obligations by the client, insufficient cash or negative cash balance on the client's accounts, BenchMark Finance will comply with the order, the conditions and the procedures under art. 63 and Art. 64 of the General Terms and Conditions applicable to the contracts with clients of BenchMark Finance, for which the client has been notified and has given his/her unconditional and irrevocable consent.

6.6. The Client has the right to terminate the contract without notice if he/she does not agree with the amendments or supplements to the General Terms and Conditions applicable to the contracts with clients of BenchMark Finance and/or the Tariff of BenchMark Finance. All amendments or addendums (supplements, additions) to the General Terms and Conditions/ or the Tariff of BenchMark Finance are published on the website of the investment intermediary, and the published documents indicate the date of their adoption and date of entry into force. The publication of the General Terms and/or the Tariff shall be made not less than one month before the entry into force of the amendments. In case of disagreement with the amendments to the General Terms and/or the Tariff, the client has the right to terminate the contract without notice before the date of entry into force of the new General Terms and/or Tariff, without liability for penalties and costs, except the costs related to the assets owned by the client and their transfer to the client's accounts. Upon termination of the contract under this procedure, the investment intermediary shall settle its relations with the client within seven days of receipt of the notification for termination by applying the procedure for settling relations with the client provided for in item 6.3, item 6.4 and item 6.5, and in the General conditions applicable to the contracts with clients of BenchMark Finance, unless otherwise stipulated in the agreement signed with the client in connection with the termination of the relationship.

6.7. The Client has the right to terminate the contract without notice if he/she does not agree with changes or addendums (supplements, additions) to the Client Order Execution Policy, the Client Categorization Policy, the products offered by BenchMark Finance and the risks associated with them, the Conflict Prevention and Management Policy of interests, Client Complaints Management Policy, Privacy Policy and other documents applicable to the client relationship. All amendments and/or addendums (additions) to these documents shall be published on the website of the investment intermediary and the published documents shall indicate the date of their adoption and the date of entry into force. In case of disagreement with the amendments, the client has the right to terminate the contract without notice by notifying the investment intermediary in writing before the date of entry into force of the new documents, without liability for penalties and costs, except for costs associated with the client assets and their transfer to the client's accounts. Upon termination of the contract under this procedure, the investment intermediary shall settle its relations with the client within 3 (three) working days from receipt of the statement for termination and according to the disposals with the assets indicated by the client, applying the procedure for settling the relations with the client provided for in item 6.3, item 6.4 and item 6.5, and in the General Terms and Conditions applicable to the contracts with clients of BenchMark Finance, unless otherwise stipulated in the agreement signed with the client in connection with the termination of the relationship.

6.8. In case the repayment of all obligations of the client as of the date of termination of the contract requires official sale of financial instruments, compensatory instruments or government securities of the client under a contract with BenchMark Finance for trading in such assets, the client unconditionally agrees with the price levels at which BenchMark Finance has sold his/her assets. When selling the client's assets, the terms and the procedure under Article 64 of the General Terms and Conditions applicable to the contracts with clients of BenchMark Finance shall be observed. Irrespective of the actions taken by BenchMark Finance to close the positions, if as a result the closer, the balance on the client's account is negative (loss is realized), the client is obliged to pay BenchMark Finance an amount equal to the realized negative cash balance.

VII. Final provisions

7.1. In the event of a dispute over actions taken in implementation of this contract, BenchMark Finance has the right to close some or all open positions of the client, reduce the amount of open positions of the client, not execute an order already placed or a submitted order for a transaction, and not to accept an order for opening new positions until the dispute is resolved.

POLICY FOR CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT OF PERSONAL DATA

Please read the information in this document and if you have any questions, you can contact us as described in the "Contact Us" section below.

1. Who processes your data.

Your data are processed by Investment Intermediary BenchMark Finance AD, with registered office and address of management Sofia, 19 Viskyar Planina Str., 2nd floor, with a license for investment intermediary from Financial Supervision Commission № 03-0212 / 09.05. 2006, entered in the Commercial Register at the Registry Agency with UIC 131225156, hereinafter referred to as the "Company".

2. On what basis and for what purposes we process your data.

If you wish to open a trading account with the Company, you will be asked for certain information through which to establish your identification. In order to open a real account and enter into an agreement for the provision of investment services, we must verify your identity, therefore we require you to provide information about your physical identity (such as name, date and place of birth, identity document, residence, citizenship, contact details, etc.). In order to provide you with the most appropriate investment service, we require information about your experience and knowledge in the field of investment. We also collect certain financial information, including data on income, property, banking information, etc. You may be required to provide additional information that we need to fulfill the regulatory obligations for identification and maintenance of data in the current form and volume.

We process your data on a legal basis and in compliance with the regulatory obligations that apply to the Company, as an investment intermediary, to identify and categorize its clients, to determine their tax status and to take measures against money laundering. These obligations are provided for in the Markets in Financial Instruments Act, the Anti-Money Laundering Measures Act and the by-laws on their implementation. If you consider that you do not wish to provide us with certain data, it is possible that you will not be able to receive the requested service. In addition to the above purposes, we may process your data to provide you with current information about products and services that we believe are of interest to you. In these cases, we perform the processing only if we have received your consent to receive such information. You have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. We follow the rule that you can object at any time to the processing of data for the stated purposes, in which case we terminate the processing immediately.

If you sign up for our Financial Markets Training product (eg by opening a demo account, or by attending seminars or courses), the information we require from you is kept to a minimum (data and data for contact), which we need for the service provided and for contact with you. In these cases, we process and send you information about the product based on our legitimate interest in increasing your knowledge and skills in the field of trading in financial instruments, in view of the opportunity to be a client, as well as to improve the quality of services. We process your data only to the extent necessary to fulfill the purposes described above and in compliance with the principle that this does not infringe your rights in a way that would take precedence over our legitimate interest. We follow the rule that you can object at any time to the processing of data for the stated purposes.

Personal data may also be collected through the use of cookies, discussed in the Policy for the use of cookies.

In order to ensure the proper performance of the services, we may process any information that is available in public registers (including in a public database and data published on the Internet), as well as information obtained in connection with the implementation of legal provisions.

In order to keep your data up to date, we may require you to update, correct, or verify its accuracy.

3. To whom can we disclose your data

We do not disclose your personal data unless the provision of certain information is required by law. In exceptional circumstances, we may provide your personal data to competent public authorities and/or supervisory authorities in proceedings before them or to another person when required by law. In certain cases, we are required to disclose information: in pursuance of a judicial, regulatory or other official act or decision; based on an agreement between us and another controller (s) or processor (s) of personal data, in accordance with the requirements of applicable law; upon instructions given by you or instructions of a person authorized by you in accordance with the terms of the Trading Agreement. We require all third parties to whom we disclose personal data or who may receive them on our behalf to ensure their confidentiality and to manage them in accordance with the law legal requirements.

4. How we protect your data

We apply organizational, physical and technological measures to ensure data security. We have adopted the necessary internal policies. Our employees are aware of the requirements regarding the protection of your personal data. Processing is minimized to the data required to achieve the respective objectives.

We have introduced a number of measures for the effective application of data protection principles, including but not limited to:

- ensuring constant confidentiality, integrity, availability and sustainability of processing systems and services;
- measures in case of a physical or technical accident for timely restoration of the availability and access to personal data;
- an internal process of regular testing, evaluation and evaluation of the effectiveness of technical and organizational measures to ensure the security of processing;
- technical and organizational measures to prevent accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorized disclosure or access to personal data.

5. How long we store your data

We respect the principle that your personal data should be stored for a period not longer than necessary to achieve the relevant purposes. We store your data while you are a client of the Company and for a period of 10 years after the year of termination of the legal relationship, taking into account the terms for storage of accounting information. In certain circumstances, if we are required by law to keep a longer period of storage, we may store your personal data for a longer period.

6. What are your rights

You have the following rights under data protection law:

Right of access: You have the right to receive confirmation from us whether your data is being processed and, if so, to receive a copy of the data and information about the processing. Please note that for additional copies requested by you, we may charge a reasonable fee in view of our administrative costs.

Right of correction: If your data is incomplete or inaccurate, you have the right to request its correction.

Right to restrict processing: In some cases, you may have the right to ask us to restrict the processing of your personal data, e.g. if you want to find out the reason for their processing. Restricted processing usually comes down to simply storing your personal data, with all other processing being discontinued.

Right of portability: You have the right to receive your personal data provided to us in a structured, widely used and machine-readable format, as well as to transfer them to another administrator without interference on our part, as long as the processing is carried out automatically. and on the basis of your consent.

Right to withdraw consent: If the processing is based on your consent, you have the right to withdraw it at any time.

Right to object: You have the right to object to the Company against the processing of your personal data if there is a legal basis for this; when the objection is justified, your personal data will not be processed in the future. You can always object to the processing of your personal data for the purposes of direct marketing, in which case we will stop processing immediately.

Right of appeal: If you consider that the processing of your personal data violates the provisions of applicable law, you have the right to file a complaint to the Commission for Personal Data Protection.

Right to be deleted ("right to be forgotten"): In some cases, you may have the right to ask us to delete your personal data. Such would be the case, for example, where data are no longer needed for the purposes for which they were collected; if you withdraw your consent, in case the processing is based on it; if you exercise your right to object; and others.

Please note that in some cases your rights are limited and in the presence of a legal basis for processing some of them may be inapplicable, e.g. we will be able to change, limit or delete your personal data only to the extent, order and manner in which we are obliged to retain them due to regulatory or legal requirements.

We may need to request additional information from you in connection with your request so that we can confirm your identity and that you have the appropriate right. This is an additional security measure to ensure that your personal data is not disclosed to third parties who are not entitled to receive it, and to be able to process your request in a timely manner. We will take action to satisfy your rights above free of charge, unless your claims are manifestly unfounded or excessive, in particular because of their recurrence - in which case we may charge a reasonable fee, in view of our administrative costs, or refuse to take action. at your request.

How can you exercise your rights?

To exercise your rights in connection with the processing of your personal data by us, please contact us in one of the ways indicated below (section "Contact us"). We will respond to your comments, questions and requests within one month of receiving them. If necessary, this period may be extended by another two months, taking into account the complexity and number of requests, of which you will be informed within the initial period of one month.

7. Contact us

For questions and requests in connection with the processing of your personal data, please send them to the attention of our data protection officer at: BenchMark Finance AD, Sofia 1407, 19 Viskyar Planina Str., 2nd floor or by email at dpo@benchmark.bg.
